A Note from Pastor Derrick

Sermon on the Mount Series - Part VIII - Moths, Rust & Thieves Matthew 6:19-24

What a weird sermon title, preacher man! Well not exactly. Moths, rust and thieves have one thing in common: they destroy precious things in our lives. All of them can do considerable damage to our spiritual lives when we don't prioritize and value the things God does. But, friend, they can do absolutely no damage to the soul serves one master: Christ our Lord. Who is your master? From what treasure principle are you operating: Christ's or the world's?

Who Should Worry About Them:

Two Spiritual Problems Problem One: Identity in Things

Problem Two: False Sense of Security in Things

Becoming a church member means leaving behind the comfort of individualism and voluntarily allowing yourself to be bound to others. It is a beautiful picture of the Gospel. And we do this because Jesus joyfully left behind his comfort and bound himself

Dear Genesis Church Members,

We have been asked by Derrick and the Deacons to organize a ministry to reach out and care for those with bereavement and serious illness needs from within our church.

In order to meet the needs, we are in hopes that many of you will be willing to be contacted in event of need. The need may be for food, meals, a visit, transportation, and possibility other forms of ministering.

If you are willing to be contacted by email(genesiscareministry@yahoo.com)in the event of need, please respond to let us know your thoughts. We realize that all will not be available for each opportunity to serve.

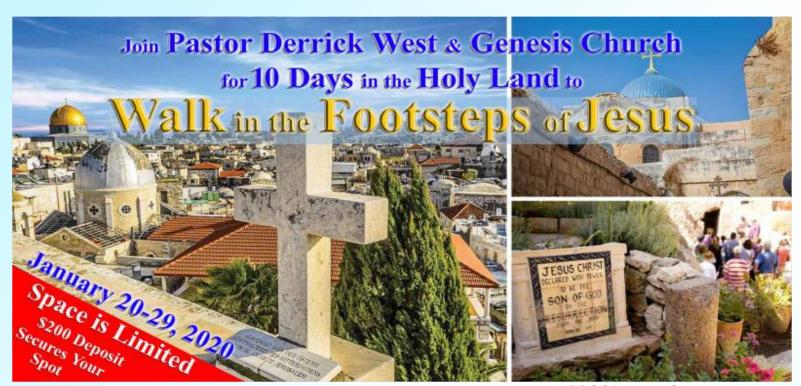

Also, if you are aware of serious illness and bereavement needs within our church, please contact us by email (genesiscareministry@yahoo.com).

Thank you for considering this opportunity to care for our loved ones at Genesis!

In love.

Pam Barker and Kathi DeGroat

One More Thing Sowing Spiritual Seeds

John 4:34-38
Sowing Spiritual Seeds

Think about everything that contributed to the story of how you came to know Christ as your Lord and Savior. It's probably not possible to fully count all those spiritual seeds that God used to draw you to Him. And not all the people who sowed good seed into your life knew what the outcome would be.

We also have the opportunity and privilege--every single day--of sowing seeds into the lives of others, such as our friends, co-workers, children, grandchildren, or even strangers. God takes what you plant and adds to it. He leads others to sow further seed or "water" the ground. Little by little, truth gets cultivated in their lives. What greater thing could you do?

Conversely, you might focus on providing your kids with plenty of material security and send them to the best schools and colleges--and yet it would count nothing for eternity. But when you sow into their lives the things of God and the qualities of Jesus, you're feeding their spirits. The seeds that affect their hearts, view of God, and desire to make a difference for Him in the world are what will produce genuine, lasting fruit and a great harvest in their lives. Whether or not you ever see the results, the Lord is using you profoundly when you sow this kind of crop.

God sees all the little things you do; He's interested in more than just "big" things. The fruit of His Spirit--such as kindness, patience, and self-control--often manifests itself in quiet ways that others may never give you credit for. But such spiritual seeds accomplish powerful work in His kingdom.

Pour out your power and love. As we sing: Holy, Holy, Holy.
